Dry Agents Raid Spring "Prom" At Kenyon

(COLUMBUS, O., May 12.—(By the Associated Press).—State prohibition inspectors raided the annual "spring prom" at Kenyon College, Gambier, Ohio, and arrested eight students for having liquor in their possession. Considerable "evidence" was reported seized.

Seven of the students this morning pleaded guilty of having intoxicating liquor in their possession when arraigned in mayor's court and each was fined $100 and costs. McDonald said today that one of the students was "too drunk to enter a plea."

The chief of the state prohibition forces declared today that President Pierce and several of the Kenyon College professors attempted to interfere with the work of the inspectors who made the raid, and that President Pierce was taken to police headquarters with the arrested students, but was not placed under arrest.

In a statement issued today at Gambier, President Pierce stated that the faculty will take immediate steps to prohibit liquor in connection with any social activity at the college. He intimated that some expulsions are expected to follow last night's raid.

The raid last night was conducted in one of the college buildings where the dance was being held.

The raid was made in the midst of the dance which is one of the big social affairs of the college.

According to attaches of the state prohibition department the affair was at its height when the lights suddenly failed and the hall was in darkness. The orchestra stopped playing, but there was no panic.

"Merely a little trouble with the power line," a deep voice boomed.

Then the lights came on again and the agents made their appearance revealing their identity.

A rush for the doors took place according to participants in the raid, but some of the men were apprehended, and several young women were taken into custody but were immediately released.

TERRE HAUTE, IND., May 12.—(By the Associated Press).—The Junior Prom at Rose Poly-Technical School was thrown into a turmoil shortly after midnight last night when about sixty guests became suddenly ill after drinking from a bowl of punch. The majority recovered in a few hours, but a few were reported as ill this morning. It was asserted that the punch had been maliciously "spiked" by some unidentified persons. A bottle, half filled with an oily liquid, was found beside the punch bowl, and an oily substance covered the punch.

Dr. D. T. Miller, who gave medical aid, said he did not believe any serious effects would result.

Stops Tourist Travel

PERKING, May 12.—(By the Associated Press).—Seizure of the express train by bandits last Sunday, has stopped tourist travel in North China.

The National Union of Chinese Chambers of Commerce is sending delegates to Linching to try to mediate, offering to guarantee payment of the ransom demanded by the bandits for the return of their captives.

American Urges Payment

TIENTSIN, May 12.—(By the Associated Press).—Payment of ransom, or compliance with whatever other terms the Chinese bandits demand for the return of their foreign captives seems today more than ever the only feasible move, in view of the letter, urging such a course received here from Major Roland Pinger, one of the two American army officers taken to the outlaws' stronghold with the other passengers of the Shanghai express train after it was derailed near Suichow last Sunday.

Not only the letter from Major Pinger was dispatched here from the bandit retreat but the young son of Major Pinger, Roland, Jr., was also held in company with another boy, Robert Allen, Jr., the son of Major Allen, the other American officer held for ransom.

The two boys, clad in Chinese clothing, apparently were in good physical condition when returned to their very anxious mothers. The mothers, who were on the train but were not taken into the hands of the bandits, had remained here awaiting word from their imperiled families.

The boys were enthusiastic over "the adventure" and said the bandits had taken quite a fancy to them, seeing that they suffered no ill.

Two Women Still Prisoners

The Pinger and Allen boys reported two women still in the hands of the outlaws. They were unable to identify the women, but, from their descriptions, it is believed that one is Senora Manuel Andra Vera, wife of a prominent Mexican, who is also held. Senora Vera was reported to have refused to leave her husband when the bandits offered to release her with a number of other foreign women. "There is no surprise here as to the identity of the other woman mentioned by the boys. They added that both of the foreign women were at the bandits' headquarters and in Chinese dress.

"Odie" Ray Shuts Off Pull Of Gravity

PASADENA, CALIF., May 12.—(By the Associated Press).—A trial of the future may be based on the use of a newly discovered ray which "shuts off" the pull of gravity if a theory propounded by Edgar J. Hollingshead, local inventor and experimenter in the field of electricity is substantiated in practice.

Mr. Hollingshead calls the new ray, which he said he discovered after twenty years of experimentation, the odic ray.

His most spectacular property, he says, is the power to increase atomic speed in matter upon which it is focused. When the speed of the whirling atoms composing any substance, Mr. Hollingshead pointed out, but heat freely applied eventually transforms the solid into a gas. The odic ray, on the other hand, can increase the atomic speed tremendously without causing the disintegration of the solid, he says.

The action of a gyroscope furnishes an illustration of power of acceleration to offset gravity. The rapidly revolving gyroscope cannot be toppled over by a blow, yet when it is not revolving, it is pulled over by the force of gravity. A somewhat "speeding up" of atoms in any substance, according to Mr. Hollingshead, sets up a force which overcomes gravity.

(Copyright 1933 By The Portsmouth Times)

WASHINGTON, May 11.—Postmaster General Harry New's hint in his Ohio speech "that the unexpected may happen" in the form of a reduction of taxes next year is not based on any definite conclusion reached as yet by the fiscal officers of the government but represents rather a tendency which may in the end justify the prediction of lower taxes.

Huge Anti-British Demonstration In Moscow

MOSCOW, May 12.—(By the Associated Press).—All Moscow's factories and government institutions were closed this morning to permit the employees to take part in a great demonstration against the British note. Surging crowds early began to fill the streets of the city. The intent of the demonstrators seemed to be peaceful, but it appeared evident they meant to make the demonstration an impressive one.

Russia Resents Ultimatum

MOSCOW, May 12.—(By the Associated Press).—Deputy Foreign Minister Ganevsky's declaration to the Moscow council of trades unions that although Russia is willing to differ with Great Britain over the differences between the two countries, she cannot accept such an ultimatum was set forth by Lord Curzon, is taken here as an indication of the trend of official opinion toward the British note.

Ganevsky told the council that the soviet government desired no break with Britain.

"We say to England," he asserted, "let us talk the matter over, but do not dictate."

Ganevsky's statement that "Russia is against those who want to enslave her," found a reflection in the resolution passed by the council announcing that Russia was ready if necessary to respond with armed force to those who try to infringe upon her independence.

GERMANY has offered France 30 billions of gold marks.

This is on condition that France quits the Ruhr.

Thirty billions in marks is about 7 1/2 billions in dollars. It's a bit less than one-third the allies' original claim.

Certain payments in goods are offered too, but the money's the thing.

To pay the 30 billions Germany proposes to take eight years.

She aims to raise the money by issuing bonds, for sale abroad.

If France wants more, Germany suggests a board, consisting of financiers from the leading countries, to decide how much she can pay. This was Secretary of State Hughes' plan.

Germany recalls that France wants security against future attack. She offers it, by agreeing to arbitrate disputes.

What France Wants

FRANCE turns down the German offer.

She says it isn't enough. She demands what she calls an "appropriate sum." She intends to decide for herself.

Nothing But Sorrow

CHARLESTON, W. VA., May 12.—(By the United Press).—The irony of fate poured nothing but sorrow into the youthful heart of Miss Myrtle Swanner, who was to be married here today. Black mourning replaced her wedding frock, and the church organ played instead of Lohengrin the funeral dirge for Jack Reynolds, her lover and her father, J. W. Swanner. The two non-miners were killed by Jack Miller, at Pomeroy, Ohio, early this week.

Jim Herman, Omaha, knocked out Al Reich, New York, in sixth round.

Jack Renault, Canada, champion, won on foul over Fred Fulton, Minnesota, in the fourth round.

Luis Angel Firpo, of Argentina, knocked out Jack McAuliffe, II, of Detroit, in the third round.

RINGSIDE, YANKEE STADIUM, May 12.—Jess Willard, a great bulk of a man from Kansas came back to pugilistic fame in the Yankee Stadium today, defeating Floyd Johnson of Des Moines, Ia., a man only half his age. Willard sent Johnson crashing to the canvas in the eleventh round with a right uppercut. Johnson being unable to return for the twelfth round.

Luis Angel Firpo scored another spectacular ring victory today when he knocked out Jack McAuliffe II, of Detroit in the third round of their fifteen round match, the second star bout of the mile fund carnival. Firpo ended the westerner's heavy weight aspirations with a terrific jolt to the jaw that sent him down for the full count shortly after the round had opened.

McAuliffe came to grief quickly after an impressive start in the first round. Firpo seemed puzzled at first by his opponent's shifty style of boxing but toward the end of the second round began to drive the Detroit boxer to cover with a rain of powerful rights and lefts.

McAuliffe went down at the close of the second round but was saved by the bell. Firpo rushed from his corner in the third round, intent on making a quick finish.

Brushing aside McAuliffe's flimsy defensive attempts he soon had his man groggy. McAuliffe took a short count and as he arose was met by a crashing right to the jaw. He went down for the last time.

Firpo was wildly acclaimed by the crowd and it was several minutes before a passage for him could be cleared through the throng that flooded the aisles.

Renault was awarded the contest over Fulton in the fourth round of their ten round match, in the first of the main bouts. The referee claimed Fulton had fouled Renault with a left swing. Renault had had the better of the fighting until the time foul was committed.

Their appetites whetted by two knockouts, the crowd was keenly expectant as Jess Willard, former champion, and Floyd Johnson, youthful towan, entered the ring for the final bout of the charity show today. The Kansas giant loomed over his antagonist, having an advantage of fifty-three pounds in weight. Willard scaled 248 and Johnson, 195.

(The all-star heavyweight charity show, a four-round bout between Harry Drake of England, and Joe McCann, of Newark, N. J., was called.

Britisher Gets Judge's Decision

Herman Knocks Out Reich

Thy Jim Herman, of Omaha, beat Al Reich, of New York, to the canvas in the sixth and last round of their bout. Herman staggered Reich with a left to the chin and then showed cool rights to his jaw. Reich attempted to arise at the count of nine but was too weak and was counted out. He had cut Herman's left eye with a straight left in the fourth round and Herman was covered with blood. Reich weighed 206 1/2 pounds and Herman 218 1/2.

Attain Johnson's Earnings

A writ of attachment on any money Floyd Johnson may earn from his bout with Jess Willard today was signed by Supreme Court Justice Mitchell on application of the Boston Arena Athletic Club which claimed it suffered $5,000 damages through Johnson's failure to appear for a bout with Fred Fulton recently. The writ was served on Johnson at the Yankee Stadium.

Charles Cook, Johnson's manager, advised that the fighter had been served in the action, when interviewed at the Yankee Stadium, but denied the Boston club had any justifiable claim for damages.

"We signed with the Boston club to fight Fulton for a certain date," said Cook, "but when the club was unable to put the show on, we couldn't fight."

Farm Drainage Demonstration
Arrangements were completed this week by County Agent W. F. Gahn to hold a drainage field day at the Portsmouth Country Club grounds on Thursday, May 24th.

The drainage lay-out was designed by the Agricultural Engineering Department of the Ohio State University, and while this land is to be used as a golf course, yet the drainage was designed exactly like farm drainage in the details of spacing and depth of tile, and will be installed just like farm tile. The cost of the work per 1000 feet of tile will also be the same as though it were being installed upon a Scioto County farm where the tile would be expected to pay for themselves.

J. A. Howenstine of Columbus, formerly with the Agricultural Engineering extension service, Ohio State University, is here to supervise the installation of the tile drainage.

Gail Tapp of Richmond, Ohio, is expected to arrive the first of next week with his Buckeye traction ditcher and will begin work at once.

W. P. Miller, specialist in Agricultural Engineering, Ohio State University, who designed the lay-out, says there will be 47,000 feet of tile to be installed and that by May 24th farmers of Scioto County will have the opportunity of seeing the contractor going at full speed, rolling dirt, digging ditches and laying tile.

Coccidiosis In Chickens
Coccidiosis, or white diarrhea, is a serious intestinal disease which may affect chicks when four to eight weeks old, if proper sanitary precautions are not observed.

The first evidence of the disease likely to be noticed is a few cases of bloody diarrhea. However, many birds may die of the disease without showing this evidence, but in a post-mortem examination the lower portions of the intestine and especially the ceca are found congested or highly inflamed and enlarged.

The surest way to avoid the disease according to a leaflet published by the Ohio Experiment Station is to grow chicks on fresh ground each year. Keep the soil clean and provide milk for the chicks to drink, in addition to liberal feeding during the first eight weeks.

In case skim milk or buttermilk cannot be provided, crude cactus is sometimes used in the drinking water. A stock mixture of one ounce of cactus to one gallon of water may be prepared. One pint of this stock mixture is added to each four gallons of drinking water. The mixture must be well stirred each time.

Health Project Meeting
Miss Wanda Trzaskuska, Health Specialist, Ohio State University, met with the following project leaders at the Farm Bureau office Tuesday of this week: Mrs. John Miller, Rushtown; Mrs. J. F. Woodell and Mrs. A. F. Miller, Wakefield; Mrs. Albert Dodds and Mrs. Frank Schmitz, Sedan; Mrs. Fred Mootz and Miss Pearl Mootz, Empire.

These leaders reported that since the meeting with the specialist in April a total of five meetings had been held in local communities, these meetings having reached 30 individuals.

At the next meeting with the specialist on May 31st, they will discuss and receive instructions in "First aid in sickness and injuries, including bandaging, splints, etc."

Shorts and Middlings
May is the month in which to treat spring pigs for worms.

Stirring in the feed bucket this time of year means stink in the egg basket or milk bucket. Grass won't do everything.

The unscreened home swarms with danger of disease.

Ohio farmers used 310,855 tons of fertilizer last year. This was 58,000 tons more than they used in 1921.

You wouldn't put up with scrub livestock. Why put up with scrub corn? Don't plant from any ear you happen to pick up. Go over seed now and cull.

Watch especially for ears with discolored or shredded butts and shank attachments; these spread rot.

Jackson County Club Workers Visit County
George Weber and sons, Geo. Jr., and Woodrow; George Keller and son of Scioto Township, Jackson Co., visited the farms of M. J. Caldwell and James Folson yesterday. They were in search of pure bred Duroc Jersey pigs for Club work in their community. They called at the Farm Bureau office and had a short visit with County Agent Gahn, who is a nephew of Mr. Weber.

Gittin' Before Th' People in 1878

Next t' solicittin' money for this an' that, we believe there's been more real genuine progress made in advertisin' than anything else, 'cept probably beautifyin' th' face. We kin easily recall when th' three or four magazines then published only carried two little ads—one for a certain pianer an' one for a certain tooth powder. Nowdays lots o' magazines are only published fer th' ads. It would almost pay t' day t' publish a first class magazine jest fer th' patent roofin' ads. Nobuddy but handits an' bootleggers would think o' tryin' t' git by t' day without advertisin'. Billions an' billions o' dollars are spent annually fer newspaper, bill board, program, magazine, an' circular advertisin'. 't say nothin' o' th' quiet an' expensive propagand' work gittin' over. We recall when a little 2x4 ad, "Drugs, books, paint an' wall paper at Murdock's, opposite th' courthouse," run in a newspaper seventeen years without change. This feller sold pearl-handled pens, musk, soap, cigars, an' sody water, too, but he never mentioned 'em in his ad.

Here's another little sample 2x4 ad we used t' see occasionally. "So an' So & Son wish t' announce that they have bought th' stock o' provisions o' So an' So, an' will continue th' business at th' present location next t' th' Peoples Bank. A share o' th' public patronage is solicited." Once in a long time we'd see a darin', lively ad like this, "All aboard! Git your mackerel at Leonard's Grocery & Queensware Establishment." It is estimated that t' day 7,421,318 men an' women are makin' a gainful occupation o' advertisement writin', an' we believe th' figures must be, p'ntly nearly correct. But there vuz nothin' abracad' about th' prosy ole ads o' other days like ther is t' day when a feller kin hardly ride around town without decidin' t' begin smokin' 'n' cigarettes. Catchy phrases an' appealin' pictures do th' work. Ever' youth in th' country is tryin' t' look like th' collar ads, while all th' gals try t' look like Cleopatra or Madame Recamier. Do women read th' ads? Oh, boy! They don't.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Calvin Gray occupies the Governor's suite in the Ajax, the most expensive hotel in Dallas. He introduces himself to the hotel manager, to the president of the largest bank and to the mayor of Dallas. The leading newspaper gives a writeup to Calvin Gray, "globe trotter, soldier of fortune and financier." To the hotel manager Gray admits that he is Colonel Calvin Gray. In the hotel dining room Gray meets an old friend, who is vice president of the biggest jewelry house in Dallas. Gray offers to go to El Paso and try to sell some valuable diamonds to Gus Briskow, who has struck oil.

NOW GO ON WITH STORY

"Excellent! There no longer is any question about my going," Gray announced, firmly. "I am bored; I am stale; a thrill of whatever sort, would stir my blood."

"Don't be silly. How could I pay you if you did go?"

"Um—um." This idea, it seemed had not occurred to Mr. Gray. It was plain that money meant nothing to him.

"You see? We couldn't permit—" "I have it. We'll divorce friendship and sentiment entirely from the discussion and reduce it to a strictly business basis. You shall ease your conscience by paying my traveling expenses. The emotional suspense that I undergo shall be my reward. I'll take my commission in thrills."

This offer evoked a light laugh from Gray's guest. "You'd get enough of 'em," he asserted. "I'll advance a mild one, on account, at this moment. Notice the couple dining at the third table to your left," Gray lifted his eyes. "What do you see?"

"A rather well-dressed, hard-faced man and a decidedly attractive woman—brunette. There's a suggestion of repressed widowhood about her. It's the gown, probably. I am not yet in my dotage, and I had seen her before I saw you."

"She's living here. I don't know much about her, but the man goes by the name of Mallows."

"No thrill yet."

"He's been hanging about our store for the past month, making a few purchases and getting acquainted with some of the clerks. Wherever I go, lately, there he is. I'll wager if I took tonight's train for El Paso, he'd be on it."

Calvin Gray turned now and opened a door at the object of Currier's suspicions. There was an alert interest in his eyes. "You've clinched the matter with me," he declared, after a moment. "Get out your diamonds tomorrow. I'm going to take the night train to El Paso."

Later that evening, after his guest had gone, Gray took occasion to liberally to put himself in Mallows's way and to get into conversation with him. For the better part of an hour the two men smoked and talked, and had covertly overheard their conversation his blood would have chilled and he would have prematurely aged, for his distinguished host, Calvin Gray, the world-wise, suave man of affairs, actually permitted himself to be pumped like a farmer's son.

Once Gray was in his rooms, however, his manner changed, and into his eyes there came a triumphant glitter. Hastily he rummaged through one of his boxes, and from a collection of trinkets, souvenirs and the like he selected an object which he examined carefully, then took into the bathroom for further experiment.

CHAPTER III

Bob Parker Comes Home

OLD Tom Parker was a "type." He was one of a small class of men at one time common to the west, but now rapidly disappearing. A turbulent lifetime spent in administering the law, he was a region had stamped him with the characteristics of a frontier officer.

Among the late comers to Wichita Falls, where he lived, Tom was known as a quiet-spoken, emotionless old fellow with an honorable past. It was not generally known that he was a kind and indulgent father and had a daughter whom he worshipped with blind adulation.

This ignorance was not strange, for Miss Barbara Parker had been away at college for four years now, and during that time she had not once returned home.

There was a perfectly good reason for this protracted separation of father and daughter: since Old Tom was no longer on pay, it took all he could make and scrape to meet her bills, and railroad fares are high.

Tom carried on a nominal fire-insurance business, but as a matter of fact the tiny two-roomed frame structure that bore his painted sign was nothing more or less than a humping place for him and his rheumatic friends.

The time came, however, when he was forced to shed his habit of slothfulness as completely as a snake sheds its skin, and that was during the week before "Bob's" arrival.

Then, indeed, he swept and he dusted, he mopped and he polished, he rubbed and he scrubbed, trying his best to put the house in order.

On the day set for Bob's arrival Tom had his dishes washed and his things in order long ere the town was awake. Then he went down to the office and waited—with the

"WE'LL BE PARTNERS, DAD."

"Well, son, there's a boom on and the town has grown some; but I guess things are about the same as when you left 'em." Tom spoke with pride and satisfaction as he paid the driver, took Barbara's suitcase, and opened the gate for her.

The girl turned from the first long, appraising gaze at the modest home. No change, indeed! The paint on the house was peeling, gutters had rusted out, some of the porch flooring had rotted through, the yard was an unkempt tangle of weeded grass and weeds and neglected shrubbery.

"It hasn't changed a mite," she said, bravely.

A moment later she paused upon the threshold, tense, thrilled, apparently speechless. This time it was more difficult to counterfeit an exclamation of joy.

"Why, everything is right where it belongs! How wonderfully you've kept house! You must have a perfect jewel of a girl, dad."

"I let Aunt Lizzie go 'bout three years back," Tom explained. "She was a shrew, and I was sort of hatching it since. Clean, though, ain't it?"

Barbara turned; blindly she walked to the center table and buried her face in a bouquet of wild flowers gathered from the yard. She held it there for a moment before she spoke.

"You—didn't even forget that I love blue-bonnets, did you, dad?"

"Bob's" room was saved for the last, and Old Tom stood back, glowing in her delight. He could not refrain from showing her his blackened thumb-nail—the price of his carpentry—for he hoped she'd kiss it. And she did.

Not until she had "showered" him out and sent him downstairs, did she give way to those emotions she had been fighting this long time; then her face grew white and tragic. "Oh, daddy, daddy," she whispered, "What have I done to you?"

Tom Parker had raised his girl like a son, and like a son she took hold of things, but with a daughter's tact. Her intuition told her much, but she did not arrive at a full appreciation of the family affairs until she had the house running and went down to put his office in order. Then, indeed, she learned at what cost had come those four expensive years in the East, and the truth left her limp.

Tom was mortgaged to the hilt, his royalties were pledged; a crow could not pick a living out of his insurance business.

Something had to be done, and quickly; a new hand was needed to mend the family fortunes. Barbara determined to lend that hand.

After a fortnight of careful consideration she decided to enter the oil business and deal in leases.

"We'll be partners, dad. You run the insurance and I'll be the lease bond."

"Say—" Tom's eye brightened. "I'll put a desk right alongside of mine—a little feller, just your size—and a nice lounge in the back room, where you can lay down when

CHAPTER IV

In Ranger Town

A YEAR before this story opens the town of Ranger, Texas, consisted of a weatherbeaten, run-down railroad station, a blacksmith shop, and a hitching rail, town enough, incidentally, for the limited number of people and the scanty amount of merchandise that passed through. The few farms and ranches round about were scattered widely, and life thereon was a grim struggle against heartbreak, by reason of the gaunt, gray, ever-present specter of the drought.

Geologists had claimed for some time that there must be coal in these north Texas counties, a conviction nurtured based upon a comfortable belief in the law of compensation.

Executives awaken to the fact that their valued employee is becoming less efficient; lacks initiative, is forgetful, makes costly errors, becomes careless, shows display of temper, takes exception to constructive criticism, lacks force, displays poor judgment, and added to all of this, is absent frequently due to ill health. # MOTHERS' DAY TO BE OBSERVED IN LOCAL CHURCHES TOMORROW

Celebrate Mother's Day In Spirit, Says Founder

ANNA JARVIS, FOUNDER OF MOTHER'S DAY

PHILADELPHIA, May 12.—Observe Mother's Day, in spirit, not in mere ostentation. This is the plea being made by the Mother's Day International Association, as the whole world prepares to celebrate the beautiful new international holiday. Charges of profiteering by florists seeking to capitalize Mother's Day have been met with a response that doing something for mother's joy, not mere flower wearing, is the object. The association is opposed to paying outrageous prices for white carnations, according to its president, Anna Jarvis, founder of Mother's Day.

"There is only one thing important this day of days," says Mrs. Jarvis. "That is to remember mother."

"Go home and see her if you are away in another town. Take her some joy. If you can't do that, write her a special delivery letter or telegram to reach her Mother's Day."

"That is what Mother's Day means—remembrance of mother." Meanwhile, observance has spread to all parts of Europe and to Japan, China, Africa and Palestine.

MOTHER'S DAY AT FIRST PRESBYTERIAN

An interesting and inspiring service has been arranged in honor of mother at the First Presbyterian church tomorrow morning at ten thirty. Two anthems will be sung by an octet composed of Mr. J. E. Lodi, Mr. Fred Klingman, tenors; Mrs. Mae Lynn, Mrs. W. J. Baker, sopranos; Mrs. Charles L. Storck,

Mrs. H. E. Bertram, contraltos; and Mr. Wm. H. Schwartz, Mr. Glen De Bruin, basses. Mrs. Mae Lynn will sing "My Mother's Favorite Hymn." The pastor, Mr. Glen De Bruin will render "My Mother's Song." E. O. Wick, Mr. Fred Klingman, tenors; Mrs. Mae Lynn, Mrs. W. J. Baker, sopranos; Mrs. Charles L. Storck,

THE GREAT COMMISSION

A sermon worth hearing must be preached about a subject worth thinking about. It must have a great deal of its inspiration. Among the greatest of all texts of Scripture is that known as "The Great Commission." The Rector of All Saints' Church will preach from the text "Go ye into all the world and preach the Gospel to every creature." at the 10:30 service tomorrow. This sermon will be similar to those preached for many weeks past at All Saints' church, that is to say, it will be a real gospel message such as is needed today. You are cordially invited to hear it and also to attend the seven o'clock evening service when the rector will preach a special Mother's Day sermon on "Mary the Mother of Jesus." The church is just two squares west of Chillicothe street on Fourth, at the corner of Fourth and Court streets.

SPECIAL SERVICES AT BIGELOW

An interesting and profitable program has been prepared by Bigelow Methodist Church Sunday School for Sunday morning when "Mother's Day" will be celebrated. Miss Ruth Chandler will sing "Mother's Day." Chester Riggins will have his quartette there to give some selections, and there will be a cornet solo by a member of the choir.

A feature will be a ten minute talk on "Mother," by a well known speaker, and all are urged to hear him.

Carnations are to be presented to the mother who has the greatest number of children and to the oldest mother.

Sunday School begins at 9 o'clock and the closing exercises are scheduled to start about 9:50. All members of the Sunday School are urged to be present tomorrow, and a cordial invitation is extended to all others who are not already affiliated with some other school to come and enjoy the morning and at the same time to honor their "mothers."

DR. SPRING TO LECTURE AT LIBRARY AUDITORIUM, TOMORROW

Sunday evening at 7:30 Dr. W. H. Spring will again speak in the Public Library Auditorium. His subject will be "The Rich Man in Hell—The Poor Man in Paradise."

Mr. Spring addressed a "capacity house" last Saturday evening, it being the largest audience ever crowded into the Library Auditorium, and even a larger attendance is anticipated for Sunday evening, because of the special interest surrounding the subject to be discussed. As usual the lecture will be entirely free.

Members Of Local Clubs Will Attend Mothers' Day Services At Second Church

Members of the Rotary, Exchange and Kiwanis clubs will attend Mothers' Day services Sunday evening at the Second Presbyterian church at 7:15. Special features have been arranged for the program, and the public is cordially invited.

The Eastland orchestra, comprising ten pieces, will play for the prelude, offertory and postlude, accompanied by the organ, and will join in the accompaniment of the anthems and congregational song. Mr. Harry Deaton, tenor, will sing a special number accompanied by the orchestra and organ.

The pastor, Rev. Hugh Ivan Evans, will preach on "A Mother's Monument."

Members of the Exchange Club will meet at the home of Irving Drew, Gallia street, at 7 o'clock. Kiwanis will meet at the home of William Briggs, Waller street, at 7 o'clock. Rotarians will assemble at the home of Albert Manning, Eighth street, at 7 o'clock. The clubs will march to the church filling in reserved seats which will be held for them.

The Mothers of the congregation will occupy the center pews and the reservations for the visiting club will surround the seats of the Mothers.

Communion Classes In The Catholic Churches Sunday

The classes of boys and girls of St. Mary's and Holy Redeemer schools will receive first holy communion at the first services tomorrow morning in the two Catholic churches.

The class at St. Mary's includes 18 boys and 29 girls, and the one at Holy Redeemer, 15 boys and 17 girls.

The occasion, when the little ones approach the altar for the first time, will be observed with a High Mass in each parish, beginning at 7:30 o'clock at St. Mary's, and at 7 o'clock at Holy Redeemer. Low masses will follow at 10 o'clock at St. Mary's, and at 9 o'clock at Holy Redeemer.

In the afternoon at St. Mary's the children will renew their baptismal vows and will be invested with the scapular of St. Carmel by the pastor, Rev. T. A. Goshel. There will be no services at the church in the evening.

The renewal of vows will not take place at Holy Redeemer tomorrow afternoon, but at a later date. At 7 o'clock tomorrow evening the annual May crowning will take place at Holy Redeemer. This service, a very beautiful one, honoring the Blessed Virgin, will include a procession of the school children and benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

Special music has been arranged for the services at both churches tomorrow and large attendance is expected.

The Communion class at St. Mary's is as follows:

John Paul Burgholtzer, Gilbert

Hill, Allen Lawyer, Paul Edward Mooter, Walter Edward Merson, Paul Joseph Montavon, Mancel Raymond Kerns, Arthur Pellegrini, Raymond Charles Petty, George W. ## I WEAR IT FOR MOTHER

(Will B. Tomlinson)

Your picture I'm kissing, and kissing and kissing,
Dear Mother, sweet Mother, Oh Mother of mine!
This flower, I wear it, but not for my merit,
Oh Mother! My Mother! The merit is thine!

Off wayward and straying, and oft disobeying,
The tears of my mother in memory I see;
Though wrong I have trodden, God ne'er has forgotten
The prayers you have offered, dear Mother, for me.

The heart in me tossing this tear-jewelled blossom,
Is grieving and grieving its heavenly need;
Oh Mother, come nearer, be closer and dearer,
Sweet spirit make purer my longing and deed!

I miss your caressing, your kisses and blessing,
I miss your great soul, so noble and grand;
O'er everything earthly, I would I were worthy
To stand with you, Mother, at God's right hand!

This flower betokens what we're can be spoken,
The love that shall never, no never decay
With love such as this is, I cover with kisses,
With lingering kisses, your picture today.

URIC ACID

Does NOT Cause Rheumatism

Furthermore, I claim that Uric Acid is a NATURAL and NECESSARY constituent of the blood—that it is found in the body of every new-born babe, and without it we could not live! Strange statements? Yet—do you perhaps, because you have always been told differently?

But my book, "The Inner Mysteries of Rheumatism," published, tells you the real truth about Rheumatism. Tells what actually DOES cause it and how it is now being successfully treated in all its different forms and stages by entirely new, advanced scientific methods.

The writing of this unusual book is the result of my twenty years study, experimentation and research in this disease, and I want every sufferer of RHEUMATISM, NEURALGIA, SCIATICA, GOUT, etc., no matter in what form or how chronic to read it. Therefore, although valuable, I will gladly send one complete copy of the book absolutely free if you will send your address or that of any sufferer you may know, plainly written to:

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, woes, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Dear Dolly—Is there any difference in which corner of the envelope one should put a stamp, and what does each corner represent?

A READER.

The correct position for a stamp is the upper right hand corner. If it is placed in any other position on the envelope it shows carelessness on the part of the writer. There is no other meaning attached to the placing of stamps.

Dear Miss Wise—Will you please print a recipe for liquid face powder, and also what is good for red hands?

MRS. L. M. C.

One ounce of glycerin and one ounce of alcohol, one half ounce of tincture of benzoin, two ounces of pure prepared chalk. One gram of carmine will give it a flesh tint if desired. Shake well and apply to face with a sponge. When thoroughly dry carefully remove any superfluous traces, and the result will be very satisfactory where powder has ceased to avail. Another liquid face powder is made like this: Three ounces of oxide of zinc, one half ounce of glycerin, one half pint rose water, two or three grains of carmine will give a flesh tint. Use as above. You might try this on your hands: Two ounces of pure glycerin, juice of one lemon. Mix and apply to the

Dear Dolly—I am a nice looking girl of 18 and am going with a young man of 22. Dolly, he has asked me to marry him, and I think a lot of him and he thinks a lot of me. Do you think he is too old for me?

BLUE EYES.

He is just about the right age for you, but you should wait until you are at least twenty before you marry him. You'll never regret waiting.

Oak Hill, Dear Dolly—You have answered so many questions for others that I thought I would ask you why in the highest animal life the female wears the brightest colors? In the lower animals, the male wears the brightest colors? Why is this? Also tell me why a bee sends its feet before flying in the air?

TOM BOY.

Why does a chicken cross the road, and why do some boys who have grown into men ask such foolish questions? Animals haven't any sense about their hides—they just naturally come that way and bees do not send their feet before flying in the air because they are usually found around in the grass and trees and flowers where there isn't any sand.

Dear Dolly—I am 15 years old and five feet two inches tall and weigh only 90 pounds. Do you think that I am too small for my age? Dolly, I am thinking of taking a trip to Washington and I want to know what would be suitable to wear on the train. Would a silk dress or a tweed suit be serviceable? I am going in August. I have a light complexion and blue eyes. What colors should I wear?

BONNIE.

Unless you are losing weight, don't worry about your size. A dark blue or brown silk dress would be all right to wear on the train, or if you have a tweed suit you could wear that. Mrs. save your dress to wear after you get there. You may wear any color that you like.

RICHARD—I cannot give you any information on photo plays or tell you who will buy them. Would suggest that you buy a Movie magazine or two, and look over the advertisements and you will find all the information you want on the subject.

It's most unusual to have black lemon pies.

"Then Nancy and Nick can go there and clean out his chimneys at once," said Mister Tatters.

"The Raggy Man, to the Chimney Sweep," said Nancy obligingly. "Where does he live?"

"He lives in town," answered the Sweep. "His house is the second one on the second street. Here are the brooms."

Away went the Twins in their Magic Shoes to the Baker Man's house.

Down the big chimney they slid and began to sweep. But the Baker Man had nine lemon pies in the oven and the soot got in every one. Instead of white meringue on top, they had black.

"I'll just charge ten cents apiece extra for them," said the Baker Man. "For it's most unusual to have black lemon pies."

The Raggy Man and the Twins and the Sweep swept every chimney clean that day. Then the Sweep went back to wash his brooms at the water-fall and the Twins went back with Mister Tatters to Raggy Land.

A Washington dispatch tells of the claim of a Portsmouth man for damages against the Chinese government for alleged injuries. The dispatch says: "Indemnity for injury inflicted upon an Ohio citizen by Chinese bandits, is sought in negotiations that are under way here this week. On May 17, 1921, Everett Connelly of Portsmouth, Ohio, was seriously and permanently injured by Chinese bandits while guarding property of the Standard Oil Co. located about 30 miles below Chung King, China. Allison Z. Blair, an attorney of Portsmouth, in a letter placing before Senator Fess the matter of damages, says: "We notice by the newspapers that the Chinese government has recently made a settlement for injury done to some American citizens while in China. Mr. Connelly was in the service of the United States government and acting thereunder at the time he received this injury. Is there not some way by which he can be compensated for this injury received?" The raids yesterday marked one of the most successful campaigns ever pulled off by the famous 'Flying Squadron' working under the direction of P. Green Miller, chief prohibition agent for Kentucky and Tennessee. The three men, George Nantz, F. D. Cannon and D. M. Willis arrived in Ashland on May 2, and since that time have severely collected data against the various places raided. According to the officers, they found the moonshine business running wide open, and their identity unknown, were able to purchase drinks across the bar in practically every establishment raided here, they aver."
